

VALÉRIE PARIS

PROFILE

Senior policy analyst - Health Division
Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development

Valérie Paris joined the OECD Secretariat in September 2005 to contribute to the work undertaken by the Health Division. Since then, she has contributed to several projects on health systems' characteristics and performance, providers' payments and on pharmaceutical policies.

She co-ordinated and co-authored the report « New Health Technologies - Managing Access, Value and Sustainability », published in January 2017 and the report “Pharmaceutical Innovation and Access to Medicines”, published in November 2018.

Previously, she was researcher at the French Institute of Research and Information on Health Economics (IRDES), a non-for-profit organization. She participated in research projects on pharmaceutical policies, physicians' payment schemes, health accounts and comparative analysis of health systems.

She holds a master's degree in Economics, statistics and econometrics from the University of Paris 1-Sorbonne (1990).